PROGRESSIVE DINNER - OCT.22ND

On October 22nd there will be a Progressive Dinner in the Villages and all adult residents are welcome to join in! We will begin the evening by socializing over appetizers at one house, then progress to another neighbor's house for the main course, and yet another house for desserts. We will do a pot-luck again this time since it worked so well last year - the host chooses the menu/type of food and each participating couple will sign up to bring a dish to share. (For the non-cooks, there will be purchase-able items on the list!) All the while, neighbors will get to know other neighbors and enjoy a friendly atmosphere and good food! For more details and to RSVP, contact Elicia Moody at eve\_ayla@hotmail.com or call 832-492-3013.

Neighbors! Your intrepid Real Estate contact has stumbled onto some interesting news that will change the very face of our area. As a member of Graceview Baptist Church (next to Parkway Chevrolet on 249), I'm aware that we have been contacted over the years by the Grand Parkway group with TXDOT on the potential for the construction of the Grand Parkway next to the church property. We were contacted again in late August with a definite timetable for this project. TXDOT will need to purchase about 2 acres of our church property on the northwest corner for their "flying ramps" that connect Hwy 249 to the Parkway. They expect to make us an offer in 9 - 12 months...begin construction very shortly thereafter and have advised that the Grand Parkway coming through our area will be complete in 2015. That's in 4 short years my friends, and that is just a blink of the eye in my book. This also means that it's likely that the main lanes of Hwy 249 will need to be finished from the current freeway lanes out past where the current Boudreaux crosses Hwy 249, otherwise the "flying ramps" will have nowhere to go. Not only will these projects alleviate our traffic problems, it will also spur additional construction in the area, hopefully that translates into the completion of the remaining sections in Villages of NorthPointe as the project progresses. For more information go to www.grandpky.com. Until we meet again...I leave you with...

"KNOCK, KNOCK." "Who's there?"

"Jimmy" "Jimmy, who?"

"Jimmy a little kiss, will ya, huh?" Heh, heh.

Mantel Decorating 101

By Deana Clark

A mantel is a natural focal point for a room, but its slim profile can be intimidating. A few handy tricks can help you feel comfortable with tackling this area and tying your room together.

Start with a clean slate. Take everything off the mantel.

Be inspired. Pull a collection of decorative items from throughout your home and put them in the floor in front of the mantel – be sure to choose items that coordinate with the color palette you've established in your room. Pay attention to how the pieces play off each other and experiment with grouping them in different ways.

Get centered. Choose your center focal piece. It can be a great mirror, a favorite piece of art, or it can even be two interesting pieces put together to create one dynamic, show-stopping piece.

Work inside to outside.

From your focal point, work outward, much like you would when setting a table – with the largest item in the middle, use scale and proportion to gradually bring the eye down on each side. Try using matching pieces to emphasize symmetry of the mantlescape.

Add personality. Introduce color, texture and seasonal touches. Take your cues from your color palette when determining accent colors for your mantel.

Hint: You can transition a great mantlescape from season to season by keeping the core of the mantel the same and changing out plants and adornments.

BRITT'S BOOK BUZZ: THE HUNGER GAMES

by Suzanne Collins

Remember the compelling and cult-following TV show, Lost? To me, The Hunger Games is the literary equivalent in that the writers creatively demonstrated survival and unity when faced with extremely harsh circumstances. The difference is that while Lost was the result of a plane crash on a strange island where anything could happen, The Hunger Games is ruled by the Capitol where young adults fight to the death as a form of entertainment for the government.

Set in the not so distant future, North America as we know it has been completely reorganized into separate districts (12 of them) all closely controlled by the militant, big brother, harsh "Capitol." These districts were formed when the Earth had become so violated environmentally and morally that war broke out. As a reminder to all of the segregated districts that rebellion is not tolerated, there is a yearly "Hunger Game" where a male and female from each district aged 12-18 is chosen at random to fight each other to the death. There can only be one victor and everything is televised, complete with sponsors.

It is in district 12 that the heroine, Katniss Everdeen lives with her mother (a healer) and her younger sister. Her father was killed in a mining accident but left his oldest daughter with the gifts and talents of hunting, which is her family's key to survival.

When Katniss' sister is chosen as one of the "tributes" to fight in the hunger games, Katniss volunteers in her place. Her male counterpart, Peeta, is also chosen.

Their experience at the Capitol and the whole tradition around the hunger games is so intriguing and fascinating as are the people they encounter. However, it is the way the hunger games are so carefully and technologically orchestrated and Katniss' amazing ingenuity and will to live and survive that kept me reading and enjoying the brutal, yet thoroughly entertaining book. At the time I am writing this review, I am already on the final book of the trilogy!

This book has it all -- a love triangle, a heroine, an underdog, fighting, mystery, science fiction--it is a reader's big Kit Kat bar!

Feel free to comment on this review, your thoughts on the book or suggest a book for me to review on my blog:
